GREEN NOTEBOOK

"...this is your life and your strength to fill an empty vessel. To change the imperfect. To believe in the power of creation. For me, this is the only way not to become a grudge and not turn into a tired person under pressure of tight trials."

A18 Green notebook / Arsen Avakov; translated by L. Herasymchuk; graphic design by M. S. Mendor. — Kharkiv: Folio, 2018.—154 p.: ill.

ISBN 978-966-03-8177-3.

This collection combines articles, essays, published works and FB posts of Arsen Avakov,

The book covers one of the most difficult periods of modern history of Ukraine: from January 1, 2014 to the fall 2017. Sometimes these are abstract texts, sometimes reflections or emotions in response to the flow of events of the time...

The years — from Euromaidan, victory of the Revolution of Dignity through the present day — through the despair and powerlessness of the annexation of the Crimea, seizure of the part of Donbas, war, grief and valor... Through the formation of emotions of the next period of the historical struggle for independence, national awareness, hard daily work designed to launch global reform of the state...

Each publication of the collection is preceded with a timeline of the day when it was published; sometimes it is suggested by the background of the post, its mood, sometimes not; however, it always allows the reader to set the format of her / his temporary reminiscences about this difficult time.
